Innovative Principal Gains San Bernardino Community Support

By Naomi Riggins

SAN BERNARDINO CA- Assemblymember Cheryl R. Brown (D-San Bernardino), in partnership with Wells Fargo, sponsored the 47th Assembly District Youth Academy's trip to Sacramento on Monday, August 8. The Youth Academy, comprised of local high school students, are working together to finalize a bill proposal for next year's legislative session.

"The goal of the trip was to get a better understanding of how a bill becomes a law," said Assemblymember Brown. "I want to thank Wells Fargo for generously sponsoring our field trip to the State Capitol. The experience was both fun and educational for our students."

During the visit, the Youth Academy members participated in legislative and professional development workshops, as well as attended a committee hearing and Assembly floor session.

"Every minute of the trip, from meeting Senate President Pro Tem Kevin de Leon to participating in a very compelling question and answer session with Assemblymember Brown's Chief of Staff, was informative and captivating," said Maria Mendoza, a recent graduate of Kaiser High School in Fontana. "Witnessing our state Assemblywoman Cheryl Brown in action and finalizing our bill proposal has been unparalleled. I am very thankful to have received the opportunity to be a part of Assemblywoman Brown's Youth Academy; it has inspired me to become a more politically cognizant citizen."

"The trip to Sacramento was a great experience for me," said Michael Egiebor of Carter High School in Rialto. "I have never been to Sacramento before, so everything I saw was new to me.

My favorite part of the trip was working on our legislative proposal with Assemblymember Brown's Legislative Director, Shannon McKinley. It showed me that young people can make a difference in their society. All in all, it was a great trip and it inspired me to consider working in the political field."

"Wells Fargo is pleased to support the 47th Assembly District Youth Academy whose mission is to help enrich the lives of underserved students. At Wells Fargo, we believe it is vital to the health and success of our communities that young people are able to learn from pioneering role models such as Assemblymember Brown," said President Evelin Martinez, Wells Fargo Inland Empire Area. "We're pleased to hear that the SAN BERNARDINO, CA- Mr. Jase Patterson, the new principal of Newman Leadership Academy is focused on creating high-quality education by bridging the gap through building stronger ties to the community with collective partnerships, not only with parents, but also with local businesses to support student achievement by first starting at the child's home.

Patterson, 38, a native of Washington D.C., was an assistant principal at Assata High School in Milwaukee, Wisconsin for five and half years before transferring to Progressive Achievement Center in Compton, CA where he served as assistant principal for 2 and half years before coming to Newman Leadership Academy. His passion and commitment to children in the urban demographic had led him to the city of San Bernardino. He recognizes parents are looking for positive male role models to change the perception that role models are only exclusive to the athletic figures. He is showing that role models need to and do include Teachers and Educators who harness educational attributes to make a difference in the world.

In a tough economy and competitive job market, Patterson says "parents find themselves raising children and looking to enter the job market," or have had past employment problems or limited education. For those parents he plans to implement regular job fairs and educational and literacy programs, which includes computer literacy programs and home computers for the students of Newman, as well as community health fairs with blood pressure and health

“You and Your Damn Pride!”

Many people think they are self-sufficient, no need for God. That spirit of independence apart from God is what the Bible calls pride. It ruined the human race [Genesis 3:5]. In Proverbs chapter 6 and verses 16 to 19 there is a list of seven things which God hates. These six things the LORD hates, yes, seven are an abomination to Him: a proud look, a lying tongue, hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that devises wicked plans, feet that are swift in running to evil, a false witness who speaks lies, and one who sows discord among brethren. Pride is put at the top of the list because it is the main factor which drives men and women’s disobedience and rebellion against God’s laws. The Bible says: Every one that is proud in heart is an abomination to the Lord: though hand join in hand, he shall not go unpunished” [Proverbs. 16:5]; The Lord shall cut off... the tongue that speaketh proud things [Psalm 12:3]; "God resists the proud..." [James. 4:6] For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon everyone that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and 'he shall be brought low [Isaiah 2:12]. His openness has already impressed Newman Academy parents due to the fact that he has first and foremost put the children first. # Changing Your Garden Can Change Your Water Footprint

water-efficient sprinklers

California Poppies

Did you know that up to 70% of your annual water use occurs outdoors? Replacing your lawn with water-wise plants can save as much as 44 gallons per square foot each year. Here are a few tips on how to maintain a beautiful and less thirsty garden:

Use less thirsty plants: African daisies, California poppies, celosia, creeping zinnia, cosmos, dwarf morning glories, gaillardia, marigolds, nicotiana, portulaca, and many more beautiful plants require much less water than grass.

Cut back on fertilizer: It causes the plants to become more thirsty.

Know your sprinklers: Use water-efficient sprinklers that focus on precise coverage and eliminate run off.

Water for short intervals: Watering for short periods allows plants time to absorb water without causing run off.

Additional indoor and outdoor water-saving tips are available at Metropolitan's conservation website bewaterwise.com. The site also has information about education programs and rebates for water-saving devices. (For before and after photos, please visit www.wssnews.com.)

Use a broom outdoors, not a hose. Every time you do, you'll save up to 150 gallons of water. Look for other ways to reduce your water use too. Fix leaking sprinklers and replace broken ones. Every water-saving effort is a labor of love that helps us all.

It was an honor to be a part of this program, and to partner with the Riverside Police Department." The twenty-eight year-old Garcia trains nearby at the Robert Garcia Boxing Academy in Riverside. Having the right tools and support is crucial for students to have a successful education. "It was great to have Mikey Garcia out here with us giving back to the community," said Sgt. Barney of the Community Services Bureau. "The backpack giveaway is a joint sponsored activity by the Riverside Police Foundation and the Riverside Police Officers Association, and was designed to inspire children and let them know that their community supports their academic efforts. Both foundations were able to raise over $5,000 in school supplies for kids in the City of Riverside." For any inquiries, contact Lorin Chvotkin of Team Mikey Garcia by email at Lbchoyas@yahoo.com or by phone at (240) 498 1478. name, HustleIsMandatory (H.I.M.), he broke into the music scene as an independent artist in October 2015 with the release of his first solo project entitled, "Dana Made H.I.M. Do It," which was a concept piece based on conversations between H.I.M.'s late aunt Dana Augusta Wright and H.I.M. over the last few years before her untimely death. He felt more than compelled to do it in honor of his aunt. Now fast forward just one year later, and Mr. Jones is making an impact in his music once again with his current single #PROTECTUS which is off of his upcoming project #NOMOREHASHTAGS, which is inspired by the recent events that have occurred where innocent lives have been taken. "In this moment we have to use our gifts and voices to stand up and say #PROTECTUS because if WE don't history will continue to repeat itself. Therefore, we as people have to come together as one and showcase that not only "Black Lives Matters" but "All

Lives Matter". Editor of the Westside Story Newspaper recently caught up with the prolific, uprising emcee where he chatted on his upcoming project, inspirations, and why we should all be using our platforms in order to create the change that we wish to see in the world. # Berlin Wasn't Just Jesse Owens's Olympics Shorter Showers Means Longer Water Supply

By Ronda Racha Penrice, Urban News Service

Gymnast Simone Biles. Swimmer Simone Manuel. Shot putter Michelle Carter. All three won gold medals at the Rio 2016 Olympics in sports not typically associated with black American athletes.

Eighty years ago, a grand total of two black American women athletes, Tidy Pickett and Louise Stokes, both in track and field, traveled to the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, where Jesse Owens won four gold medals. Because his victories debunked Adolf Hitler's pronouncements of Aryan supremacy, many believe Owens was the only black American Olympian there.

"He wasn't alone," says filmmaker Deborah Riley Draper. "There were 17 other people." Her documentary, "Olympic Pride, American Prejudice," tells the stories of Pickett, Stokes and the other black American Olympians with Owens.

Nine of them also won medals in the Nazi capital. Some did so with Owens. Some competed against him. Some didn't compete with him at all.

Ralph Metcalfe shared the podium for gold with Owens after the 4x100-meter relay. Then Metcalfe won silver to Owens's gold in the 100-meter dash. Jackie Robinson's brother, Mack, took silver to Owens's gold in the 200-meter dash.

In high jump, Cornelius

"Corny" Johnson won gold, while Owens's fellow Ohio State Buckeye, Dave Albritton, snagged silver. Archie Williams mined gold and James "Jimmy" LuValle bronze in the 400-meter run. John Woodruff won gold in the 800-meter run. Frederick "Fritz" Pollard scored bronze in the 100-meter hurdles, and Jackie Wilson earned silver in bantam-weight boxing.
