SAN BERNARDINO, CA--- Sierra High School, in the San Bernardino City Unified School District (SBCUSD), has been named a Model Continuation High School by the California Department of Education (CDE). This is the third time the campus has received this prestigious designation, recognizing Sierra for its exemplary programs and services that support students who have faced challenges in traditional high school settings.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tony Thurmond announced last month that 31 schools throughout California were recognized as Model Continuation High Schools this year. Model Continuation High Schools provide comprehensive services to at-risk youth by exemplary instructional strategies, flexible scheduling and guidance and counseling services. Continuation schools provide a high school diploma program for students who have not graduated from high school, are required to attend school and are at risk of not completing their education.

SAN BERNARDINO, CA--- The San Bernardino City Unified School District (SBCUSD) hosted a thrilling NFL Draft Party on April 25 at Cajon High School, where the anticipation was palpable as more than 100 attendees eagerly awaited the selection of 2023 Heisman Trophy winner Jayden Daniels.

Students, staff, alumni, and community members gathered at the Cajon High gymnasium to witness the historic moment as Daniels, an LSU standout quarterback, was drafted second in the first round by the Washington Commanders. The atmosphere was electric as guests enjoyed food, music and camaraderie while awaiting the announcement of Daniels' NFL destiny. As the draft unfolded, cheers erupted throughout the gymnasium when his name was called by the Commanders, marking a monumental achievement for both him and the San Bernardino community. "We are incredibly proud of Jayden and all that he has accomplished," said Superintendent Mauricio Arellano, who like Daniels calls San Bernardino his hometown. "His dedication, talent and leadership have inspired countless students and demonstrated the limitless potential of our SBCUSD graduates."

Prepare! Prepare! Prepare! Great tribulation – a time of suffering and desolation unlike this world has ever experienced is on the horizon. Don't wait until it's too late! Prepare!

Consider Noah. God warned Noah and his family of the coming flood and directed them how to prepare the Ark to survive it. Noah listened to God, took the warning to heart and "did according to all that God commanded him." [Genesis 6:22]. And because Noah listened to the warning and obeyed the command of God, He, and his household, along with a remnant of every living creature on the earth, survived the flood waters that covered the earth. [Genesis 8:1]. Ongoing warning to all. Prepare and don't delay. There is only one place of refuge – in the hands of Jesus by accepting Him as the Lord of your life. Jesus is the only source of refuge from the coming storm. Don't wait until the storm falls on you. It will be too late to prepare then. There will be no place to hide and no place of safety, for the whole world will be burned away and there will be no place to go.

God has promised that the storm is coming, but many won't believe the warnings or heed the call because they can't see it with their natural eye. But

Cinco De Mayo: Five Interesting Facts You Should Know About the Popular Mexican American Holiday

By Edward Henderson | California Black Media

To explore the historical significance of Cinco De Mayo, we step back to the origins of the commemoration, share how some Mexican American Californians regard it and trace how it has morphed into the celebrations we see today.

Celebrations in the United States began in 1862 in Columbia, California, a small town located in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada in Tolumne County, according to that town's website.

Today, millions of Americans celebrate Cinco De Mayo annually with 120 official celebrations organized across the United States.

This day has become a cultural point of pride for Mexican Americans and other Latino communities in the United States. It serves as a time to affirm and celebrate their cultures with other Americans of all backgrounds as they highlight their contributions to American history and society.

Joseph Soltero, a Mexican American living in Escondido, shared his perspective on Cinco de Mayo with California Black Media. He learned about Cinco De Mayo from his grandfather and talked about the extent to which his family and San Diego County community celebrate the holiday.

"We knew September 16 was really Mexican Independence Day, but kids in my school would always mistake Cinco De Mayo as our Independence Day. [Cinco De Mayo] is not really even a Mexican holiday," said Soltero. "It's something people do to have an excuse to buy drinks, have fun and spend a little money at taco shops."

San Bernardino County Officials Voice Public Safety Concerns Over Death Row Inmate Transfer to Chino Institution for Men (CIM)

SAN BERNARDINO, CA--- San Bernardino County Sheriff Shannon Dicus, District Attorney Jason Anderson, and I are raising concerns over the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation's (CDCR) decision to transfer death row inmates to San Bernardino County.

Chino Institution for Men (CIM) is receiving the third highest transfer of inmates in the state, following the closure of San Quentin's death row by Governor Gavin Newsom who announced his plan to transition San Quentin into a rehabilitation center.

The transfer of death row inmates to CIM creates tangible public safety concerns for local residents. CIM has a history of infrastructure deficiencies that have resulted in several well-documented, recent escapes.

Relocating this category of inmate to CIM is irresponsible and ignores the realities of what the facility is capable of handling.

Residents can contact Governor Gavin Newsom through the following link. (Please select the "Prison Issues/Concerns" topic from the drop-down menu and proceed to leave your comment.)

Working Group: More Entry-Level Homes Could Help Solve Housing Crisis

By Antonio Ray Harvey | California Black Media

The Community Housing Working Group hosted a briefing on April 23 at Cafeteria 15L in Sacramento. Discussions focused on how the housing crisis in California affects Black and Brown communities and explored ways to provide low-income families and individuals with affordable housing.

Tia Boatman Patterson, CEO and President of the California Communities Reinvestment Corporation, said "entry-level housing" is not available as it was in the past, adding that affordable units were a major point of entry into homeownership for many families in the Black community.

"My mother bought her first house when I was in junior high. It was an 850-square foot, two-bedroom and one-bathroom house in 1978. That house cost $30,000," Boatman-Patterson said.

"A woman working part-time at JCPenney was able to afford that house. We don't build these types of housing now. We do not build entry-level homeownership," she added.

The Community Housing Working Group is a collection of diverse community organizations from across California working together to address housing challenges in their communities. The organization believes that solving the affordable housing crisis will require creating enough smaller, lower-cost, multi-family homes located near jobs, transit, and good schools.

The briefing included a panel discussion titled, "Exclusionary Zoning: A Look Back and a Path Forward." Boatman-Patterson participated in that session along with Henry "Hank" Levy, Treasurer-Tax Collector for Alameda County, and Noerena Limón, consultant, Unidos U.S., and Board Member of California Housing Finance Agency.

First District Supervisor Paul Cook Applauds SBCTA measure on April 10.

"For years, I've been raising concerns about the lack of a viable emergency plan for the Cajon Pass," said Supervisor Cook. "Whether it's a major earthquake, wildfire, or another disaster, a shutdown of I-15 could isolate our First District communities. I've been a strong advocate for a back-up plan, and this study is a critical step forward."

The approval comes after former Assemblymember Thurston "Smitty" Smith secured $1 million in the 2022 state budget for a Cajon Pass I-15 Bypass Study. The focus of this project is to assess the feasibility of utilizing State Routes 247 and 62 as an alternative route during emergencies that force the closure of the Cajon Pass.

"The State Route 247/62 Emergency Bypass Study will explore how to best utilize these existing roadways as a more viable alternative to I-15 during emergencies," Supervisor Cook continued. "The project's goal is to minimize the negative impacts of an extended I-15 closure. This includes examining operational strategies to maintain traffic flow for essential services like freight transport, personal travel, and emergency response teams."

The study will also factor in existing traffic management plans developed by law enforcement, transportation agencies, and emergency service providers for situations involving I-15 closures and major incidents.

The contract, upon approval by the full SBCTA Board in May, will officially greenlight the project.

National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) Launches the Schizophrenia and Psychosis Lexicon Guide: A Milestone in Mental Health Communication

WASHINGTON, D.C.-- The National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI), the nation's largest grassroots mental health organization, is pleased to announce the launch of the Schizophrenia and Psychosis Lexicon Guide. This guide will help transform how we talk about, understand, and treat schizophrenia and psychosis, representing a significant step in NAMI's mission to foster understanding, empathy, and respect in mental health communication. The new guide is a collaborative effort involving mental health experts, individuals with lived experience, and comprehensive research. This inclusive process ensured that the guide is a well-rounded resource.

"The Schizophrenia and Psychosis Lexicon Guide underscores the crucial role that thoughtful, informed language plays in supporting people with schizophrenia and psychosis. It is a testament to NAMI's ongoing commitment to improve mental health outcomes and reduce the stigma and discrimination surrounding these conditions," says Dr. Teri Brister, Chief Program Officer at NAMI.

The guide is available on NAMI's website, and provides healthcare professionals, caregivers, advocates, and the media with an approach to conversations that respects the experiences of individuals living with these conditions and promotes positive engagement.

"The Lexicon guide is a masterful way to communicate the preferences of people with lived experience to talk about schizophrenia and how not to talk about it. This is the best of NAMI--bringing expertise from real people who know best how to drive learning and shows how NAMI is leading the way in promoting accurate, respectful, and empathetic communication," says Dr. Ken Duckworth, Chief Medical Officer at NAMI.

About the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI): The National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) is the nation's largest grassroots mental health organization dedicated to building better lives for the millions of Americans affected by mental illness. Through advocacy, education, support, and public awareness, NAMI strives to ensure that all individuals and families affected by mental illness can build better lives.

“Ongoing Warning to All!”

"The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance." [2Peter 3:9]. Ongoing warning to all!

God is not a man that he shall lie. A storm is on the horizon. It is coming just as surely as the sun rose this morning. It's more certain than the sun may rise tomorrow. This is a storm that cannot be compared to any storm of nature in its power and intensity. It's a storm that will bring judgment upon the heart of every man and woman remaining in the earth and none will escape its power. Please don't wait until the storm falls on you. It will be too late. Now is the acceptable time, now is the day of salvation. Jesus is the only source of refuge from the coming storm. Give your life to Jesus now! Don't wait until it's too late!
